A Russian ship they saw a mine exploded about a mile and a quarter away. No ships were visible in the vicinity, and the captain of the Russian vessel suggests that the mine was detonated by a big fish.

General Willmott has announced an amnesty for all German sailors emigrated without permission who within three months present themselves for service in Germany, the colonies, or on board German warships. The sole condition of the amnesty is that they can prove their recent conduct has been satisfactory.

AUSTRIANS ROUTED

PETROGRAD (EST. PETERSBURG), September 2 (C. P. M.)—The General Staff announces that the Austrian Fifteenth Division was completely routed near Lutskoff on August 28, and that 1,000 officers and 4,000 soldiers were taken prisoners.

GERMAN CAPITAL GUARDED BY SEVERAL ARMY CORPS

LONDON, September 2 (C. P. M.)—A despatch to the Central News from Austria demands that telegrams received there from Berlin set forth that the German capital is being guarded by several army corps.

GERMANS AND AUSTRIANS IN POSSESSION OF LODZ

WASHINGTON, September 2.—The German embassy received a wireless from Berlin indicating that the German and Austrian troops have occupied Lodz, the largest manufacturing center in Russian Poland, and that the battle northward from Lemberg is continuing.

The report is confirmed, the message adds, "that the French abducted twenty-four men and twenty-five children from a German town in place of a hospital doctor and assistant from Leiningen; fate unknown."

The papers are full of Russian horrors in East Prussia. The Russians cut off the breast of a mother, and impaled her five children on a fence.

Later the embassies received this additional news from Berlin:

The news that German troops have left Brussels on account of the situation in East Prussia is wrong. The German administration in Brussels is very active, civil servants arriving every day for newly organized offices. The French official communiqué that the Russians had completely invested Koenigsberg is also false. The Russians have never held the distance between the frontier and Nienburg, and are now retreating eastward after the annihilation of their Narew army.

The Gazette de l'Est, a responsible newspaper, calls London a "laughing stock" while Shanghai during the Russo-Japanese War.

"Lost Churchill's declaration that a victorious Germany would seek expansion in South America appears to be the climax of ridiculous extenuation and unscrupulous attempt to incite the friendly nations of both North and South America against the German people, while the German press here, on the contrary, heartily welcomes the progress and prosperity of free American nations."

German soldiers returning from Belgian reports suffering that increase the German people's exasperation against the revolting atrocities committed by Belgians.

Germany's extremism has been raised by the Belgian attempt to induce the world with London and Paris who are endless liars at accomplices, in the belief that German soldiers are authors of atrocities.

The Socialistic German paper Vorwärts held up a shocking description of the wholesale massacre of Germans at Louvain. The Socialist organ, another publication, says the name of Belgium is the worst insult that could be inflicted upon a civilized man.

GERMAN FORCES CONTINUE ADVANCE IN LORRAINE

PARIS, September 2.—There are no signs of hostile troops at Arras, Lille, Bethune, Douai and Lens in Northern France, according to an official announcement made to-day.

"Parts of several German army corps in Belgium," the statement continues, "are moving eastward into Germany." The official statement adds:

In the northern part of the country on the right bank of the Saône. In the south, the situation is unchanged in Ligny. Also, the Germans appear to have left. Before Belfort, there is only a thin curtain of trees.

Another German cavalry corps has pushed on as far as the line of Soissons to Amiens. Le Châtelot. In the region of Belfort and of the Moselle, the enemy is inactive.

AIRSHIP CIRCLES OVER PART OF CITY

LONDON, September 2 (C. P. M.)—According to an Antwerp dispatch to the Evening News, the Zeppelin airship which appeared over Antwerp just before 1 o'clock this morning, circled over only the southeastern part of the city.

The alarm was quickly given, the fortifications were closed, but nothing effective, because the Zeppelin had appeared just before dawn after a clear moonlight night. Shots were fired, and it was believed the airship was hit.

At Dourme, two miles east of Antwerp, the Zeppelin apparently made efforts to reach the wireless installation.

Within a minute the cruiser gave chase. Shore observers saw the span of water between the two craft grow shorter rapidly. Presently the Van Hoogenpoel stopped; a small boat put out and received one. It got nowhere signed by Von Jarotzki, who commanded a brigade of 5,000 men in an army of over 10,000.

"I went to a point near Hal, where I learned of the great turning movement toward the allies' left flank. I realized that that newspaper might well have been arrested here. I felt sure that if I remained I would be arrested and shot as a spy."

"On my return to Brussels I found the town in a turmoil owing to Van Jarotzki's stupidity, which had nearly involved the town in the same fate as that of Louvain. He had been left to the discretion of the Belgians, and moved to those of suddenly out of control. Then, as suddenly he became alarmed for the safety of the remainder owing to so large and hostile a population and therefore marched back the 3,000 who were camped outside."

"The citizens, seeing these men hastily returning, at once jumped to the conclusion that the Germans were being forced to retreat out of the town, and they were fleeing in confusion. Some of the inhabitants, therefore, went to take arms and finish off Van Jarotzki and his men, but, fortunately, the error was discovered in time."

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

WASHINGTON, September 2 (C. P. M.)—According to Miss Maude Risk Insurance Bureau, of the International Red Cross Society, Turkey and Greece expect to be drawn into the European war. There are indications, she says, that the allies are making extensive plans for treatment of their soldiers who may be wounded on the battlefield. Both nations have requested American medical aid to send surgeons, nurses, bands and complete hospital supplies. Greece, offering to pay the salaries of those who come to help, is sending 100 medical officers, 100 nurses and 100 auxiliaries.

Miss Boardman, who has been working for the Red Cross here, says the bureau is sending 100 medical officers, 100 nurses and 100 auxiliaries.

"I am very sorry to say that we will not be able to grant their requests for the present," Miss Boardman states. "We are engaged in sending men with those nations which are already at war. Should we decide to send part of our force to Greece, it will be at our own expense."
